

Yesteryear Village is a historical village where cultural and architectural history have been preserved for future generations. History is presented in a living, interpretative atmosphere and accurately reflects life as it was in Florida at the turn of the century.

A Look At Florida Then And Now

Yesteryear Village

This is how children like you lived in a community many years ago. The children had no TV's or computers. They had to depend on what they could do for themselves and how they could help their families. Think of ways that you can help your family today. How is your life different than the children that lived in Florida in 1900.

How the “Florida Cracker” got his name

The Florida cowboy would snap or crack his whip over the heads of the cattle to control them. The cracking sound could be heard for a long distance. They called him a “Florida Cracker.”

Florida Cracker Cattle

Cracker Cattle are small but tough. They are also known as “scrub cattle,” and “Florida cattle, “ and are native to Florida.

Ponce de Leon brought the first cattle to Florida in 1513, just south of Ft. Myers. By 1698 there were more than 30 privately owned cattle ranches in Florida. Florida was America’s leading exporter of cattle in the mid 1800’s and supplied beef to the Confederacy during the Civil War.
